St. Augustine Cafe Episode Jails King

By F. T. MACFEELY

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and fellow integration leaders were brought to the St. Johns County Courthouse today for arraignment on charges stemming from their attempt to eat in a segregated restaurant.

King, another Negro, the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, and a white man, Boston University Chaplain William England, said it was hot in jail Thursday night where they had been held. They needed shaves.

King told newsmen he remained in jail since he was booked. This contradicted a statement by Sheriff L. O. Davis that King was taken elsewhere temporarily because of threats on the integration leader's life. Davis would not say where.

As King and the others were being arraigned, Judge Howell Melton convened a grand jury to investigate racial disturbances in St. Augustine, the nation's oldest city.

"You are responsible only to the court," Melton told the 18 grand jurors. "You need have no fear of anyone."

King told newsmen he had not decided whether to make bond and go to Atlanta, his home. He said that if he does so, he will return to St. Augustine no later than Tuesday.

Birmingham Integration Fact Today

EDITOR'S NOTE—Just a year ago, Negroes were carrying their protests into the streets of Birmingham. The city was on the brink of a racial explosion. Reiman Morin covered the demonstrations in June 1963 and the disorders that broke out in September when the Birmingham schools were integrated. In this story, he takes a look at Birmingham 12 months after the troubles began.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Three Negro girls take seats at the lunch counter in a Birmingham department store.

They order soft drinks. The white waitress promptly serves them.

Nobody pays any attention. At the baseball park, Negroes and whites sit together in the stands, cheering the Birmingham Barons. Four of the Barons are Negroes. The team is having a great season, financially, and in the standings.

At Legion Field, Evangelist Billy Graham preaches to 35,000 people. The audience, the choir, the staff of ushers are integrated.

Three Negroes receive diplomas along with the white students in graduation ceremonies at two high schools. Their parents are in the auditorium. No incidents.

Negroes sit on nine of the 10 subcommittees of the Community Affairs Committee, a bi-racial group set up to study, not only racial problems, but city administration in general. Two Negroes ran for constable in a recent election. They lost to whites, but one race was close—1,641 to 1,894.

A new bank employs Negro and white tellers. Of its 14 security officers, 9 are Negroes. While the racial situation in Birmingham is far from settled and the possibility of demonstrations still exists, there is much in the record of the city to make you rub your eyes in disbelief, remembering the situation as it was on June 2, 1963.

Thousands of Negroes demonstrating in the streets—fire hoses, police dogs—jails overflowing—a community taut as a bowstring, especially at night.

A riotous truce ending the thunder in the streets, the bombings and shootings. "Dynamite" In a way, the 16th Street Baptist church and finally, Sept. 14, four little Negro girls killed when their church was bombed. Birmingham became a tragic landmark in the long story of

The $64 Question for Hope Band Is $4,000 to Pay for New Uniforms

By MARY ANITA LASETER
Star Feature Writer

This week a committee headed by Dr. Harold Brents, chairman, met with Superintendent of Schools James H. Jones to discuss raising funds for the purchase of Hope High School band uniforms. Others on the committee are James Lowder, Frank King, and Bob Lewis.

The uniforms are to be purchased from Craddock Uniform Company and will be similar in design to those of the U of A marching band. An overlay covering the basic uniform will make it a two-in-one garment with the basic black to be used during the concert season and the red and white overlay, giving a smart military appearance, to be worn for marching.

For the purchase of 56 band uniforms, 7 majorette outfits, and the regalia for a drum major (boy) and a drum major (girl) a total of $5,500 is needed. As the result of projects during the past year, the Hope Band Auxiliary has $1,500 of that amount. A balance of $4,000 is needed and must be raised by September 1.

Each 16-ounce uniform will be 100% wool and completely moth-proof. Her workshop for piano has been built in the band building to store the uniforms during the off-seasons. It has been revealed that in all schools in the district where uniforms for the school band have been purchased it has been a community project. A cedar-lined storeroom, the band is a community organization, performing in any number of civic occasions.

Frank King is erecting a huge thermometer at the corner of 2nd and Main so that the rise in the band uniform campaign for funds can be recorded for all to see at a glance. When donations to this fund are given, make checks payable to: Hope High School Band Uniform Fund. Because it is a community project, the contributions are tax deductible.

Additional information regarding the band has also been released this week. Band dues have been reduced because the school system is now handling the finances of that organization. Whereas the band fee has been $2.50 per month for each student, now it is $1.50 per month for each student and only $1 per month for each additional student in the same family.

The new band director and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Keyton, will arrive in Hope in early August after he receives his masters degree in music from the U of A. He plans to extend the band program to the 5th and 6th grades this next year and Mrs. Keyton, who holds a bachelors degree in music, will assist him in the grade school work.

As in previous years, band instruments can be rented from the local group. Then, if an interest in that particular instrument continues, the student may investigate the purchase of the instrument. This is a useful arrangement, especially in the lower grades.

Hail Reported in Osceola Area

OSCEOLA, Ark. (AP)—Hailstones larger than marbles fell on Osceola Thursday, but no heavy damage was reported.

Some sections of the city were temporarily without power because of the storm, which also brought heavy rains and three limb-snapping winds.

Weekend to Be Fair — and Hot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Near-perfect weather for summer outings is in store for Arkansas this weekend—if you can stand the heat.

Clear to partly cloudy weather is called for, with maximum temperatures in the upper 90s through Sunday. Nights will be warm too, with low readings mostly in the low to mid 70s.

Scattered showers are predicted in Northwest Arkansas with the possibility of light showers in other sections.

Maximum temperatures Thursday ranged from 92 at Texarkana to 100 at Little Rock. Overnight lows ranged from 68 at Fayetteville to 74 at Pine Bluff.

Yanks Fond of Old-Style Whirley Birds

By PETER ARNETT

TAN HIEP, South Viet Nam (AP)—A shattering roar exploded down the line of long, cylindrical machines stretched across the airfield.

Smoke and fire belched from the exhaust of one bearing the name "Taxpayers Regret."

Vietnamese soldiers jogged toward them, but one hesitated perceptibly before approach and the green monster spluttering and shaking ahead of him.

Then he plunged into it. Since their arrival in December 1961, they have been called many names, most of them bad.

With the last of them leaving this week, some of the pilots are having second thoughts. "You fall in love with these old dogs because it takes so much pilot technique to keep them in the air," said one American flier who wrestled with H21s for eight months.

Another observed: "When you have flown one of these babies you have flown everything." The role of the ungainly H21 has been taken over by the UH1B, known as the Huey. These slim, mosquito-like helicopters are more agile.

The H21 was never designed for the tough work it had to do in Viet Nam. But it won the grudging respect of relays of U.S. Army pilots who flew it on combat assaults and supply missions with the Vietnamese army.

"She's old and slow and they were writing her off as obsolete a couple of years ago, but you could fill her up till she was bursting and still get her off the ground," one pilot said.

This advantage was demonstrated last week when an H21 moved 48 refugee women and children in one lift.

Officers in the 120th Aviation Co.—oldest helicopter company in Viet Nam—said recently 22 hours of maintenance was needed to fly one hour.

But the officers admitted that the ship was under heavy punishment all the time.

River Total 5 Millions Over Budget

By GORDON BROWN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee approved today an appropriation of $89 million for work on the Arkansas River navigation and development program in Oklahoma and Arkansas for the year starting July 1.

This was $5 million above President Johnson's budget recommendation but $10 million below the $99 million asked by sponsors of the program. Sponsors said the larger amount was necessary to keep the project on a schedule aimed at a 1970 completion date.

The river development program involves construction of a 9-foot navigation channel from the Mississippi River across Arkansas to near Tulsa, Okla. Army Engineers had aimed at completing the channel to Little Rock by 1968, to Fort Smith by 1969 and to Tulsa by 1970.

The Engineers said, after the budget was announced, that the $84 million it recommended for the work would mean a delay of a year in completion of the work.

They said the project could be kept on schedule with an additional $15 million.

Supporters of the project asked the House and Senate appropriations committees to approve the $99 million figure, contending a one year's delay would add $38 million to construction costs, $800,000 to land acquisition costs and the loss of $50 million in anticipated benefits.

The House committee also was asked to add to the budget figures $10 million for navigation lock and dam work; $500,000 for the Ozark Lock and Dam in Arkansas; $3 million more for Kerr Dam in Oklahoma and $1.5 million more for Webber Falls Dam in Oklahoma.

The only increase the committee approved was $5 million for the navigation locks and dams.

Appropriations approved by the committee include: Bnk stabilization, $15 million; Navigation locks and dams, $47 million; Dardanelle Lock and Dam, $10 million; Ozark Dam, $1 million; Eufaula Dam, $3 million; Keystone Dam, $6 million; Kerr Dam, $6 million, and Webber Falls Dam, $1 million.

River Route to Oklahoma City Seen

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A navigation channel from the Arkansas River to Oklahoma City has gained the approval of Army Engineers, provided state and local interests pay $54,864,000 of the total cost.

Brig. Gen. Carroll H. Dunn, southwestern division engineer, said in a report issued Thursday the project would cost $400,136,000.

The channel would run from a point 62 miles north of Fort Smith up Dirty Creek to the Eufala Reservoir on the Canadian River, then to Oklahoma City via the Deep Fork River.

It would provide navigation from Oklahoma City to the Mississippi River when the Arkansas River navigation project is completed.

LBJ & Erhard Agree Treaty Not A Crisis

By ENDRE MARTON

WASHINGTON (AP)—West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard goes home tonight after agreeing with President Johnson that the West need not worry about the Soviet-East German friendship treaty.

The pact the U.S.S.R. and her satellite signed in Moscow Friday aroused sharp interest in Washington but created no new crisis, German sources declared.

In fact, State Department experts were inclined to regard the treaty as a defeat for Walter Ulbricht, East German Communist leader and chief of state.

He is understood to have asked for a separate "peace treaty"—which the West firmly opposes—and got instead a pact with a lofty title but little substance.

Friday night at a dinner in the White House rose garden, Johnson and Erhard exchanged champagne toasts to continuing friendship, deepening understanding and cooperation.

After his meeting with Johnson six months ago at the LBJ ranch, Erhard said some people referred to their accord as a honeymoon that would fade.

"I think the honeymoon is over now," Erhard said. "We have reached the state of marriage, but based on trust, on faithfulness."

Johnson declared there can be no lasting peace in Europe until Germany is united "in peace and freedom." But he said the United States and her allies "shall work to open new avenues of trade and we shall work to build new bridges of ideas toward the East, to improve relations, to lessen tension, to enhance the prospects of all of us living in this world with peace."

As for the Soviet-East German treaty, Erhard said there is nothing alarming in it, but he asked for vigilance and reconfirmation of the Western position.

A communique issued at the White House by Johnson and Erhard Friday gave this reconfirmation, in unmistakable terms. The treaty, it said, does not affect the rights of the three Western powers or "modify their obligations and responsibilities of the Soviet Union with respect to Germany and Berlin."

The communique also held Soviet Russia "solely responsible for the consequences of any attempt at interference with Allied rights that might result from implementation of the new treaty."

Though this was firm language, American and German diplomats said they do not expect Moscow to use the treaty as a pretext to new trouble in Berlin.

Ridgeway Is Off Ballot 2nd Time

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—E. T. (Gene) Ridgeway, 43, was lopped off the Democratic Primary ballot again Thursday.

Chancellor Murray O. Reed issued a temporary injunction to keep Ridgeway off the ballot, and said it would remain in effect at least until Ridgeway present at the hearing here Thursday.

Democratic Party officials took Ridgeway's name off the ballot weeks ago at the advice of Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett, but the Arkansas Supreme Court ruled that the officials could not do this.

So Bennett filed suit to have the courts do it.

Bennett previously ruled that Ridgeway could not run for governor because he was convicted in 1955 for embezzling public funds while he was delinquent tax collector in Jackson County.

Ridgeway served 21 months of a five-year prison sentence and was pardoned in 1959 by Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon.

The Supreme Court ruled that Ridgeway could not serve if elected governor, but left unanswered the question of whether Ridgeway could run.

Five persons testified Thursday that registered letters sent to Ridgeway at Newport and at Norfolk, Va., where he now lives, could not be delivered.

Ridgeway also failed to appear at the first hearing on Bennett's suit June 3.

Confusion in GOP Traced to Leaders

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—If Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania does today what he seems ready to do—tell the country that he will seek the Republican presidential nomination—it will be just one more twist in an already unforgetable week.

And if the public is no less confused after he does, the prime movers in the Republican party—Scranton not excluded—will have to share the blame.

For while Sen. Barry Goldwater was emerging as the GOP's only aggressive leader, they were looking more like caretakers than captains. They were sitting back, doing nothing, saying nothing now that New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, the only top Republican willing to stick his neck out against Goldwater, seemed at the end of the line although he says he is still in the running.

While Goldwater and Rockefeller were slugging it out in the primaries, there was always the fine chance the two would knock each other out of all consideration before the Republican nominating convention in July. That would leave the field wide open to those would-be presidents who said they'd accept the nomination but would not fight for it.

After Goldwater's California primary victory all but sewed up the nomination for him, they began to wring their hands. They showed concern for the nation and the party but never enough to really do anything about it.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was also concerned but he didn't show any more leadership than the others. He told The Associated Press on Thursday his main concern is in seeing an open convention and a platform and ticket that would build the party to its maximum strength.

He didn't hide his reservations about some aspects of Goldwater's conservative philosophy but, as he put it, he wants to be in a position to pick up the pieces after the convention and help unite the party behind its nominee.

He had said he wouldn't interfere in the selection of a candidate but before the Governors' Conference opened in Cleveland his week he called Scranton and nudged him toward some activity.

Scranton had said he would not seek the nomination but would accept it if drafted. Eisenhower suggested he not be so rigid about waiting to be drafted.

Of all the Republican leaders, Scranton put on the most indecisive and confusing performance. He said one time he could run for the vice presidency on Goldwater's ticket and indicated their views on issues weren't too far apart.

Gov. George Romney of Michigan said he'd do everything in his power to stop Goldwater but when former Vice President Richard M. Nixon suggested that Romney actively seek the nomination in opposition to Goldwater, Romney wouldn't.

But Nixon who would like the nomination, but says he isn't a candidate, explained that in urging Romney to oppose Goldwater he wasn't really trying to start a stop-Goldwater move although it might have that effect.

There was always the chance of course, that if Romney and Goldwater fought each other until the convention got deadlocked on them, Nixon might have a chance, perhaps his best and only chance, to be picked finally as a compromise candidate.

Nixon said Scranton would be a good vice-presidential running mate for Goldwater, a view which, if it caught on, might erase Scranton from the conclave at all.

Scranton repaid the compliment by suggesting that Nixon who has been vice president eight years under Eisenhower, would be just the man to run for the vice presidency again.

Scranton Says "Hour Is Late" - Blasts Barry

By WALTER R. MEARS

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Gov. William W. Scranton took a while to make up his mind; but moved in a hurry once he decided to go after the Republican presidential nomination.

By his own account, Scranton made the decision only hours before he announced it Friday in a sweltering, crowded hotel ballroom.

"Where will you start your campaign?" a reporter asked. "I just started it right here," the Pennsylvania governor replied. "Do we have any prescribed itinerary? No, not at this moment. We just decided to run last night."

Even before he told the Maryland GOP convention of his decision, Scranton was firing his first campaign salvo at front running Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

"Can we pretend, even to ourselves, that it is possible for us to stand with one foot in the 20th century and the other in the 19th?" Scranton asked.

"A stand must be made, but the hour is late," said the 46-year-old governor, who has spent the better part of a year insisting that only an honest draft would make him the Republican presidential nominee.

Scranton said he changed his mind when he decided the moderate Republican viewpoint was not going to be represented when it came time for the GOP national convention to pick its man.

Scranton's vow to battle Goldwater sounded an ironic echo of the theme the Arizona senator chose when he plunged into the race last January.

At his sprawling home near Phoenix, Goldwater had declared no other announced candidate—and only Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York was in the race at that point—could "offer to the American people a clear choice in the next presidential election. I will offer a choice, not an echo."

Said Scranton Friday: "I have come here to offer our party a choice. I reject the echo that we have thus far been handed of fear, of reaction from the never-never land that puts our nation on the road backward to a lesser place in the world of free men."

Vacancies in Colleges Put at 6,000

NEW YORK (AP)—The Student Admissions Center says about 60,000 places are still open in next semester's freshman classes of two-year and four-year accredited colleges.

G. James Hechtman, director of the center, said Thursday that there is more room available than is popularly believed. "The problem is one of distribution of applications rather than a lack of physical space," he said.

Conway Lass Governor of Girls State

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Jane Mobley of Conway was elected governor of Girls State ere Thursday, defeating Mary Kathryn Priddy of Dumas.

Other officers: Celia Thompson of El Dorado, lieutenant governor; Glenn Blakemore, Fort Smith, secretary of state; Kathy Barnett, North Little Rock, treasurer; Kathy Dulan, Fayetteville, attorney general; Linda Crow, North Little Rock, auditor; Connie Davis, Newport, land commissioner.

Lynn Fulton, North Little Rock, was elected chief justice of the state Supreme Court; associate justices: Annette Enderlin, Conway; Candy Boenoch, Prairie Grove; Lyda Holt, Little Rock; Pamela Smith, Little Rock; Pamela Cravens, Fort Smith; Starr Mitchell, Little Rock.

The week-long study of government includes a legislative session at the State Capitol today. The Girls State week ends Saturday.

L. R. Pools to Be Sold or Closed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The City of Little Rock is trying to sell its swimming pools after an integration attempt Wednesday.

City Manager Ancil Douthit said today the pools would either be sold to private interests or would remain closed for the summer.

"We are working on the possibility of a sale right now," Douthit said. "The city board gave me no deadline. I will receive offers to buy. If something can't be transacted soon, both pools will be closed for the remainder of the summer."

Little Rock has two pools, War Memorial Park for white persons and Gilliam Park for Negroes.

Twenty Negroes tried to swim at War Memorial Park pool Wednesday and the pool was closed.

Douthit said he did not think the pending civil rights bill would effect segregated status of private pools since the public accommodations section of the bill applies only to private facilities with 25 or more employees. Both pools employ less than 25, he said.

Prank Costs School Kids $303 Apiece

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Ten Central High School pupils were fined $303 each here Thursday in connection with a cross burning incident here May 8.

Municipal Judge Quinn Glover reduced the charge from night riding, a felony, to disturbing the peace, a misdemeanor, at the request of defense counsel.

Glover ordered the youths to report back to court Sept. 1, when he will waive $200 of the fine if they behave until then and pay the other $103 each with money they earn.

Police said the cross was burned in an apparent attempt to harass a white youth who associated with Negro pupils at the school.

Closed TV Circuit at World Fair

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The average producer of television shows counts the number of sets which will carry his program by the millions, if it is a network broadcast; by the thousands, if local. Lou Ames, television show producer, counts his sets by the hundreds—300, to be precise.

The average producer feels he is an exceptionally creative fellow if he manages to turn out 30 hour-long TV shows a season. Lou Ames estimates that his output this summer will total some 2,000 hours. Subject matter will range from cooking, fashion and flower shows to travelogues and interviews, laced with public service programs.

Ames is headman of the special small closed-circuit television circuit at the New York World's Fair. It consists of a complete broadcasting studio, equipped with the most modern electronic gadgets, and 300 color television sets around the 646 acres of displays and exhibits.

A project of the Radio Corp. of America, the tiny network is commercially designed to exploit the glories of tinted TV to millions of fair-goers who might never have seen it before. It also performs an agree-

Wheat Crop Biggest for Arkansas

WASHINGTON (AP)—Agricultural Department officials said today prices of new crop wheat in the southeast—from Arkansas to Georgia and the Carolinas—may run into low-price difficulties in the weeks ahead.

The new wheat program is designed to support grower prices at an average of $1.30 a bushel. But in many of these southwestern states, use of price support loans to sustain wheat grower returns will be limited. That's because of a lack of adequate storage and a high level of farmers who are not eligible for supports because they overplanted their allotments.

Arkansas increased its wheat acreage this year from 160,000 to 415,000 and estimated production 14,525,000 bushels, compared to 5,208,000 bushels last year.

The average price for last year's crop was $1.78 a bushel.

By ALVIN SCHAY

Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A boom in wheat planting in the Arkansas Delta should give the state its largest crop in modern history, the Crop Reporting Service predicts.

The service's 1964 wheat crop forecast issued Wednesday predicts Arkansas farmers will harvest 14,525,000 bushels.

This is almost three times more than the 5,208,000 bushels produced in the state last year. And last year's crop brought $9,270,000, or about $1.78 a bushel.

Although prices vary, the predicted wheat crop could easily bring $25 million dollars to the state's farmers this year.

Roy Bass, U.S. agricultural statistician for Arkansas, said the big jump from last year comes primarily from increased planting in the Delta counties, particularly in the northeast and east-central counties.

Bass said plantings in other parts of the state did not vary much from 1963. Wheat is grown in most parts of the state, he said, although little is produced in the southwest, north and south-central parts.

The big 1964 wheat crop is expected to come from 415,000 acres, with a yield of 35 bushels an acre. Last year wheat was planted on 160,000 acres.

One Delta county, Crittenden, is expecting 50,000 to 60,000 acres this year, and Bass said Mississippi should be the top producing county.

Arkansas farmers voted against wheat allotments, making compliance with the allotments voluntary. This way, able useful function—amusing weary sight-seers as they rest their aching feet, and focusing on the faces of occasional lost children to speed reunions with the worried parents.

Ames does not have much trouble filling the 12 hours a day, seven days a week, schedule. Press agents from commercial exhibits of the fair are always suggesting that his mobile camera cover a ceremony or event of some sort. He is bombarded with short commercial films, on a variety of subjects.

Visitors to the TV studio—and there is invariably a waiting line—are conducted through the building and at one point have a chance to see themselves on color television. Ames estimates that 8,000 visitors a day tramp through the center.

Ames was producer of NBC's "Today Show" for a time. He produced the world premiere of Gian Carlo Menotti's "Marie Golovin" at the Brussels Fair in 1958.

Presidential Scholars Honored

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson heaped praise, lavished the hospitality of the White House and gathered an array of famous Americans to honor 121 high school graduates picked for intellectual attainment as the nation's first "presidential scholars."

No money went with the award. But the five hours these youngsters spent in the White House last evening was historic and unforgettable.

They met the President and his family in formal and informal mood. They wandered through the stately rooms of the White House and got a look at the Johnsons' pet beagles.

And, they mingled with such famous personalities as actress Helen Hayes, poet Ogden Nash, choreographer George Balanchine, physicist J. Robert Oppenheimer, astronaut Navy Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr., and novelist Harper Lee.

Before the party was over, Johnson and his wife came down from seats on the Truman balcony to stretch out on the cool grass of the south lawn to watch the Kingston Trio in the final act of an evening outdoor show put on for the scholars.

Not many of the students saw the President as he relaxed because it was dark and they were watching the show. But, they crowded around him later when he came forward to tell them "I'm going to bed tonight knowing that the country is stronger and in safe hands as long as we have people like you students."

The President's older daughter, Lynda, 20, presided at an outdoor hamburger dinner, served on paper plates under the trees where Caroline Kennedy's play school used to be. And, while they ate, the scholars gathered to chat with composer pianist Leonard Bernstein, actors Sidney Poitier and Jose Ferrer, the Gerry Mulligan Quartet, Metropolitan Opera tenor Nicholas Di Virgilio and the Kingston Trio, who had come to entertain them.

The government spent $40,000 to bring the students and their parents to Washington for presentation of a bronze medalion, specially designed by sculptor Jacques Lipchitz.

EFFINGHAM, Ill. (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. says he'd like to be President Johnson's running mate in the November election.

"I'd be glad to be President Johnson's choice" as a vice presidential candidate, Roosevelt told a news conference, "but I'd be happy to serve my country in any way."

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—Britain's Beatles arrived in Adelaide today for a concert and ran into a welcoming mob that broke through police cordons three times to surround the rock 'n' roll quartet's car.

Before police could get the Beatles into City Hall for an official reception, a policeman had to scatter the screaming crowd by charging it aboard a motorcycle.

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Patriarch Athenagoras I, spiritual leader of world orthodoxy, is reported much improved. He collapsed at a religious service Wednesday.

Bass said, they can go over the allotment and take their chances on the open market. By not complying, for which there is no penalty, they have no assurance of price support.

Arkansas' planted acreage for 1964, 415,000 acres, looks rather small compared to the national leader, Kansas, which harvested wheat on 8,627,000 acres last year.

While wheat is becoming a big cash crop in the state, it has had its ups and downs in past years.

Bass said Crop Reporting Service estimates indicate there were 50,000 acres planted in wheat in 1866. At the turn of the century the wheat acreage had jumped to 379,000, but then it declined before World War I. During the war it increased again, and in 1919 Arkansas planted 260,000 acres in wheat. Again the figure dropped.

During the post-World War II years farmers started increasing wheat until it had jumped from 31,000 acres in 1950 to 210,000 acres in 1957, the post-war high up to 1964.

If farmers in the state produce 14,525,000 bushels of wheat this year it may signal a major turn in planting. The five-year average for 1958-62 was 3,617,000 bushels.

Bass said the outlook is bright, and added many farmers would probably follow wheat with soybeans, making two crops in one year.

NEW YORK (AP)—Peter Duchin, 26, son of the late Eddie Duchin, famed pop pianist, will marry the daughter of a New York hotel owner June 22. Duchin, also a professional pianist, and Cheray Georgia Zauderer, 23, daughter of George Zauderer, obtained a license Thursday.

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)—Sir Robert Menzies, 73, prime minister of Australia, has been confined to bed with what his doctors described today as "a recurrence of an abdominal disorder."

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington: DISARMAMENT: Sen. Joseph S. Clark today blamed a belligerent congressional minority—and he included specifically—Sen. Barry Goldwater—for blocking the road to complete and general disarmament.

This belligerent belligerency in foreign policy, "led by a self-perpetuating few," is a constant drag to our efforts to wage the peace," said Clark, a Pennsylvania Democrat.

They rally against any treaty, "no matter how minor, with the Communist world," he said in a speech prepared for delivery to the General Assembly of United World Federalists.

Clark called upon advocates of disarmament to take "issue with the military-industrial complex and all those who, like Sen. Goldwater and many a Democratic senator, as well, pursue a belligerent line in foreign policy."

Goldwater, the front-running contender for the Republican presidential nomination, was the only member of Congress named by Clark in his speech. TAXES: Dr. Raymond J. Saulnier, chief economic adviser to President Dwight D. Eisenhower a decade ago, has called for a halt to "the Kennedy-Johnson expenditure explosion."

Saulnier charged in a Republican panel's report issued on Thursday that many of the President's projected spending reductions are either "of doubtful practicability" or stem from "bookkeeping devices."

Johnson has used more of these bookkeeping devices "than any other administration in history," said Saulnier, a professor of economics at Columbia University, in the Republican Critical Issues Council Report.

WARREN COMMISSION: Marina Oswald testified again Thursday on the Presidential commission investigating the assassination of President John F. Kennedy and, a source close to the commission confirmed, was questioned about a report that her late husband threatened to kill Richard M. Nixon.

HAVANA (AP)—Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa says his country will take "fitting" measures against attacks on Cuban soldiers by U.S. guards at the Guantanamo Naval Base.

The government Thursday night made public Roa's protest over the alleged wounding of a Cuban soldier by U.S. sentries at Guantanamo Tuesday night. The U.S. Defense Department has denied the charge and suggested the Cuban may have been shot by Fidel Castro's own troops hunting rebels.

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri has launched an effort to settle India's long, bitter dispute with Pakistan over Kashmir.

In his first broadcast since succeeding the late Prime Minister Nehru, Shastri said Thursday night "a great deal of patience will be necessary" to settle differences, but added that India and Pakistan were linked by common history and traditions.

Shastri also appealed for harmony between India's Hindu majority and Moslem minority.

COLOGNE, Germany (AP)—A crazed man who fatally speared two women teachers and seared 20 children and another teacher with a flame thrower died Thursday night after he was shot by police, then gulped down poison.

The worker, Walter Seifert, 40, a tubercular lathe operator, was shot in the pelvis as he tried to flee from the school. Before police could subdue him he swallowed the contents of a small bottle of insect killer.

Doctors who treated Seifert for tuberculosis had classed him as mentally unstable but harmless. Before he died he told police he was fed up with the way physicians had treated his illness and "wanted to take revenge."

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union will begin discussions with the United States next Monday on a global space satellite communications network.

U.S. officials said the countries would try to work out a plan for coordinated use of each other's satellites.

Gun Problem Is Discussed on TV Show

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK (AP)—The assassination of President John F. Kennedy with a mail-order gun focused attention on a serious and controversial law enforcement problem. Death-dealing weapons, from hand pistols to bazookas and even anti-tank guns are available by mail order or over the counter to almost anyone who can afford to pay for them—citizens who need self-protection as well as criminals, lunatics and even children.

"CBS Reports" undertook Wednesday night to examine both sides of the subject.

The program demonstrated how a man released from a Kansas prison walked into a "liquor and sporting goods" store in Arizona and bought a gun under an assumed name and later killed two Los Angeles police officers with the weapon.

The sale was legal in Arizona, as it is in several other states. Americans love guns, perhaps because of our frontier traditions. There are even 200,000 members of "quick draw clubs" using real guns and wax bullets.

The position of representatives of the National Rifle Association, representing over 600,000 hunters and shooting enthusiasts, was explored. While deploring sales to convicted felons, persons with a history of mental disease or children, it maintains that citizens have a right to own firearms for self protection, including the prevention of tyranny.

Police authorities pointed out the tremendous lack of uniformity in state and local gun laws, and James Bennett, director of federal prisons, said, "We're the only civilized country with no effective restrictions on gun sales."

The hour program was intelligent, well-organized and provocative.

The last "Garry Moore Show" next week will have Carol Burnett, Alan King, Marion Lorne and Allen Funt, all show regulars at one time or another, as guest stars.

Steve Allen arrives in New York next week to appear in "I've Got a Secret" show in show's reins.

Moore plans a slow trip around the world next season.

Salt Lake scored the winning run in the fifth on a triple by John Boccabella and a double by Ron Campbell.

San Diego scored three runs in the second at Denver while the Bears were committing three errors. But Denver bounded back on a grand slam homer by J. W. Porter in the third for a 5-4 lead, and they were never headed.

"DEAR ABBY"

By Abigail Van Buren

LEAVE IT UP TO HIM!

Dear Abby: I am a dentist's assistant and I would like to know how often it is necessary for a 26-year-old woman to have her teeth cleaned. We have this pushy young woman who would get her teeth cleaned once a week if we'd let her. I heard the dentist tell her that once every four months was about right, but she calls and claims her teeth feel "furry" and she wants them cleaned more often. The doctor has cleaned them twice in three months, just to satisfy her, but she still calls wanting another appointment. I think she is trying to make a social contact with the dentist. What do you think?

DENTAL ASSISTANT

Dear Assistant: Let the dentist decide how often he wants her in his chair. If she's trying to sink her teeth into him, don't gum up the works.

Dear Abby: I am tired of hearing widows complain that all the men who ask them out are aggressive to the point of being insulting. I was a widow for 16 years and never had a bit of trouble. I had my first date with a gentleman on February 10th, 1961. We saw each other regularly once a week for almost two years. He called me MRS. and I called him MISTER. On New Year's Eve of 1963, I told him he could call me Margaret, and he asked me to call him Darwin. We shook hands on it. On St. Valentine's Day he asked me if he could kiss me. I said yes. Up until this time he had never laid a hand on me. We were married the following Thanksgiving. So tell those widows to act like ladies and they will be treated as such.

MRS. D.M.F.

Dear Abby: Most of the time I mind my own business, but this seems too important to ignore. An unmarried man in our neighborhood has had a steady procession of cleaning women and girl friends coming and going regularly. You can't even tell which is which. This last one seems to be staying longer than the rest. With summer coming on, their comings and goings are so plain to see—especially by the children. Since some are old enough to wonder why a bachelor seems to have a "wife," how does one explain it? I can't say the woman over there is his "wife" because he might make change next week. What do you suggest?

OHIO

Dear Ohio: I suggest that you tell anyone who inquires (including the children) that you know nothing about your neighbor's personal life.

You need not be ashamed. We have all suffered from mental illness in varying degrees and durations. But many of us have managed to recover before it became serious enough to seek psychiatric help. What is a siege of deep grief, excessive guilt, haunting fear, burning jealousy or lingering depression if not mental illness? I know not one person who has managed to escape all these "sick emotions" but I know many who will deny it.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Within this elegant exterior," says Gene Barry, "there is a non-conformist trying to escape."

Living up to his television image as Amos Burke, the millionaire police detective of "Burke's Law," can be a bother.

This is the second crime-fighting dandy for Gene, who for three seasons was Bat Masterson, frontier fashion plate. Now as Burke, he plays a millionaire policeman devoted to epicurean tastes. And some folks expect him to live the role.

"People send me champagne when I'm eating out," he says. "I hate to tell them that I'm the kind of a guy who would rather get the same results from a couple of belts of Scotch."

As for fancy food—"I'm a meat and potatoes man myself; I'd rather have my dishes without all the fancy sauces."

A fringe benefit of his job is a complete wardrobe tailored to his measurements by a clothing firm that foots the bill.

"But even that can be a drag," he sighed. "It's a lot of bother to go through the fuss of five fittings a piece for 25 suits each year. Sometimes I'd rather just buy my suits off the rack."

Naturally he must keep his waistline trim and that can be a bore, too. "I kind of look forward to the stomach go and wear pants with the double pleats to hide the flab," he said.

Before you shed any tears for brother Gene, it should be added that he isn't displeased with the success of "Burke's Law" in its first season. Far from it. He's the principal shareholder.

Barbara Eden is terrified of Tony Randall in his guise of Pan, the God of Joy, in this scene from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new George Pal production, "Seven Faces of Dr. Lao." Randall portrays seven different characters in the picture, filmed in color and co-starring Arthur O'Connell and John Ericson.

Starts Tuesday at Saenger

Russia Invited to Alaska Fete

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—The Soviet Union will be invited to participate in ceremonies marking the 100th anniversary of the United States' purchase of Alaska from Russia. The centennial occurs in 1967. The invitation will be extended by Paul Greimann of Fairbanks, who plans to visit Moscow in July.

Birmingham

Today, the city may be on the way to becoming an example of what people of both races can do to solve racial problems.

In a way, the 16th Street Baptist Church, where the four children died, seems to symbolize the atmosphere in Birmingham now.

Blonde wood paneling covers the balconies and choir box. Before, they were a sombre mahogany color. The new floor and the repainted walls and ceiling also are in lighter shades. New stained-glass windows match, almost perfectly, the windows that survived the blast.

The total effect is more cheerful. So is the feeling in Birmingham, to a degree.

The segregationist has not suddenly become an integrationist. But he may have decided it is better to make accommodations than to have more demonstrations and bombings.

Rumors continually circulate that Negroes will begin demonstrating again.

Negro leaders have expressed dissatisfaction with the Community Affairs Committee. It has only advisory powers and they criticize Mayor Albert Boutwell for not acting on the committee recommendations.

"If demonstrations begin again this year, Negro leadership will find it very difficult to say one word of caution in the face of the mayor's treatment of the recommendations," said Dr. Lucius Pitts, president of Miles College.

But Arthur Shores, a respected Negro attorney, said the committee "at least gives us a chance to air our grievances."

Some whites also criticize Boutwell for lack of action.

Says the mayor, "We're rendering more services, all types now than before. I feel we're gaining the confidence of the people."

White businessmen who work to ease racial tensions still get the midnight phone calls, threatening them, their wives and children.

Hotels, motels, restaurants, remain segregated. Only token integration took place in the schools.

So the picture is a montage of light and shadow.

The situation may deteriorate again. But as of now, Birmingham is a bright spot in the whole picture.

The Story: Milo March, insurance investigator, is trying to find Thomas Rako, who has been missing for nearly seven years. If Rako is not found, the insurance company must pay a million dollars to Rako's beneficiaries. Before his disappearance, Rako was closely associated with Johnny Clark, who has been threatening March.

I decided I was hungry. I called room service and told them to send up a martini, a rare steak, with all the trimmings and a big pot of coffee. I said that I'd like to have Herman to bring it up.

It wasn't long before there was a knock on the door and Herman wheeled in the table. I drank my martini slowly. When I had finished I had a good appetite for the steak. I had coffee and began to feel that life was good after all. Then I turned on the television set and watched a show that didn't tax my attention too much.

Herman came by for the table and the dishes shortly after nine. I got undressed and climbed into bed. The sheets felt great, the way they do when you're very tired. There was a comedy show on television. It wasn't very good, but it didn't overwork my mind to watch it and I needed that kind of rest.

I just lay there and waited for the time to come when I wouldn't be able to keep my eyes open.

The telephone rang. I picked it up.

"Milo?" a hearty voice said. I thought I recognized it, but I waited to see. "This is Johnny Clark."

"That's nice," I said.

"I called to apologize for blowing my top this afternoon. I'd had a hard day, but that was no reason why I should've taken it out on you."

"That's all right. How did you know where to find me?"

"Oh, I called around town until I got the hotel where you're staying."

"You mean," I said, "that one of your boys called from a pay phone and told you where I'd holed up. Are they still outside waiting for me? If so, you might as well let them off the hook. I'm already in bed. But I may go out early in the morning."

He laughed. "I told you I liked sharp guys. I hear you paid

"THIS WORLD"

...what is it dad? To me it seems to be a multitude of jealous people, who have forgotten God, and are experimenting with scientific formulas that could tear us apart. What does it mean — "Am I my brother's keeper?"

What a thought for this age...for men who literally carry our lives in their hands. At best we are confused. The time-table is tipped in favor of total destruction. Why, oh why, will wise men "deaf-ear" God? He said, "I am the way and the truth." He gave us His church where we could learn to love each other more, but many a man refuses to be called to worship. God, have mercy on all those who stray, and help us explain the world through love.

You In The Church

The Church In You -- form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.
